Come join us at the Highland Park Country Club (HPCC), which is a first-class conference facility where they serve an outstanding all-you-can-eat buffet lunch with several choices on everything from salads to entrees to desserts. Their combination of quality and variety makes this luncheon an enjoyable eating experience and an excellent value. Following lunch we will have a presentation on Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design (LEED) for Naval and other facilities. Our speakers will be a panel consisting of Mr. Christopher Perzan, J.D., a lawyer working on LEED legal issues, Dr. George Nassos, Director of the Center for Sustainable Enterprise at IIT Chicago, and Mr. Chad Edwards of KZF, Cincinnati, Ohio. Mr. Perzan will focus on how green building practices can be integrated into an overall risk control scheme, particularly at Brownfield Redevelopment sites. Dr. Nassos will describe a high efficiency wind turbine for use in LEED projects, and Mr. Chad Edwards will present a case study of the Fort Bliss Dining Facility, highlighting the Military's process of designing a LEED certifiable building; the dining facility is shown below.
